GERMANY REGRETS TORPEDOING OF GULF LIGHT

Berlin Government to Furnish Full Recompense

BLAMES BRITISH PATROL BOATS

American Flag Was Not Observed Until After Torpedo Had Been Fired.

Washington, June 5.—Germany in a note cabled to the state department yesterday, by Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, expressed regrets that through "an unfortunate accident" a German submarine had torpedoed the American steamship Gulf Light, and declared itself "ready to furnish full recompense for the damage thereby sustained by American citizens." In the same communication the German foreign office said it had not yet been possible to clear up fully the case of the American steamer Cushing, reported attacked by a German aeroplane, and asked that the United States communicate the information in its possession concerning this incident.

Blame for the attack on the Gulf Light was placed by the foreign office upon the proximity of two British patrol boats and the absence from the steamer's freeboard of the distinctive markings usually carried by neutral ships in the war zone. "That the attacked steamer carried the American flag," the note added, "was first observed at the moment of firing the shot."

The Gulf Light was torpedoed in the English channel five weeks ago while bound from Port Arthur, Tex., for Rouen, France, with oil. She was towed to Crow's Sound and beached for repairs. Two seamen were drowned when the crew took to the boats immediately after the attack, and the captain died of heart trouble the next day.

The expression of regrets and offer of reparation in yesterday's note follows the principle outlined in the circular recently sent to neutral nations by Germany disclaiming any intention of attacking neutral vessels carrying noncontraband cargoes.

GRANGE MEMORIAL SERVICE

Tribute to Deceased Members of the Organization.

At the Memorial service of Bennington grange Wednesday evening the following written by Mrs. B. J. Brooks was read by Mrs. Walter Niles:

"It is significant that we choose this season of the year in which to honor the memory of those who have passed beyond the limitations of our understanding. We have just awakened from nature's sleep when the spirit of death seemed to brood over all, to find the earth teeming with life, giving the lie to death. Like a child laughing and shouting in exuberance of joy, the world rejoices in its abundance of life. There is no death. Over the face of nature change is written large, but God is the God of living things and from the tomb comes the reassuring words 'He is risen.' We turn from the open grave with a feeling that all is lost and cry out in bitterness of soul asking the age old question—Why? Why must the history of the ages record one long funeral procession? Why must each day witness the agony of breaking hearts and ruined hopes? And being out of harmony in the symphony of life, we continue our fretful complaints, while nature calmly moves forward in her appointed course concerning herself, not so much in the welfare of individuals, as in the work of evolving a more, and ever more, perfect race."

"To live, to labor, adding to the world's store of experience, and, as best we may, aiding nature in her creative work, by subduing earth's forces, and helping to develop perfect conditions for man's existence, then to pass on and make room for generations yet to come, is the life of mortal man, while the soul goes back to the source from whence it came, strengthened, and with larger understanding of God and his infinite wisdom."

"I know not where His islands raise their fringed palms in air."

"I only know I cannot drift beyond His love and care."

"What we call death is as natural as any other function of human existence. And, 'When thoughts of the last bitter hour come like a blight over thy spirit'—'Go forth into the open sky and list to nature's teachings'—'Earth that nourished thee shall claim thy growth to be resolved to earth again'—'Approach thy grave like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams'."

"Since this Grange was organized, eight years ago, many times have we draped our charter in mourning. Many of our brothers and sisters have passed that 'bourne from which no traveler returns.' It seems but yesterday that we looked into the faces of some of them, and was encouraged by their hearty handshake, their words of cheer and their faithful service. They have wrought in earth's crucible of toil and have gone, while we are left to continue the fight."

"We miss them—the interchange of thought the warm human sympathy. But in spirit they are with us. A part of their life's work has gone to make this Grange what it is, and in some measure our lives have been moulded by their influence. They are not dead. From this organization and from the community in which they lived, their influence shall widen and widen until the whole world shall be different because they have lived. Such is the life of man. And as we hold this service, in memory of our departed brothers and sisters let it not be with selfish, hopeless grief, but with humble resignation to the law of nature and of nature's God, and as a tribute to their memory, let us resolve to take up the work where they have laid it down, and forgetting all petty aims and sordid strivings, consecrate our lives to the work of overthrowing error and darkness and establishing the reign of righteousness and truth."

HEAVY FIGHTING ALONG ENTIRE GALICIAN FRONT

Austro-Germans Expect Collapse of Russian Campaign

HOW PRZEMYSL WAS TAKEN

Russians Still Hold Some Forts to Cover Retirement of Main Army.

Austro-Hungarian Field Headquarters, (via London), June 4.—According to information given out by the Austro-Hungarian military authorities, heavy fighting is now in progress along virtually the entire Galician front, and the general situation is very favorable to the Austro-Germans. A decisive conclusion to the entire Russian campaign in Galicia is in sight.

Przemysl's recapture by Austrian and Bavarian troops, according to details received from the front, resulted from the taking of five forts in the northern sector and the simultaneous threatening of the forts on the south and west fronts.

With the forts on the north side in the possession of the besiegers, with a Bavarian corps pressing impetuously through the breach against the city, and with the Austrian tenth army corps within storming distance of the southern and western forts, which artillery fire already had reduced sufficiently for attack, the Russians decided to evacuate the town and all the forts except those on the eastern and southeastern sectors. This movement was executed Wednesday night.

The Bavarians resumed their attack at dawn on Thursday and entered Przemysl upon the heels of the retreating Russians.

The Austrian tenth army corps simultaneously started toward the west and south fronts, but found the forts there had been evacuated. An attack now is in progress against the forts still held by the Russians, those positions being defended apparently with the object of covering the latter's retirement.

"The Russian rear guards," the statement to the press says, "are fighting delaying actions south of the Dniester river against the Austro-German forces advancing from Stry to cover the passage of the river. The Russians north of Przemysl are launching a series of the most desperate attacks against General von Mackensen's army. Here they are making use of new reserves, and at the same time they are exerting heavy pressure against the troops commanded by Archduke Joseph Ferdinand in the triangle between the river San and the river Vistula."

"The Russian offensive in South-eastern Galicia designed to relieve this situation, has been a complete failure."

NOTE TO GERMANY MEETS APPROVAL OF CABINET

Insists Upon the Rights of Visit and Search

NO GUNS ON BOARD LUSITANIA

All Other Contentions of Recent Communication from Berlin Treated as Irrelevant.

Washington, June 5.—President Wilson read to his cabinet yesterday the draft of a note to be sent to Germany, demanding in effect an adherence by that nation to the humane principles of international law in the conduct of maritime warfare as affecting neutrals. Comparatively brief, but described as insistent and emphatic, the communication will be presented by Ambassador Gerard to the German foreign minister, Dr. von Jagow. The cabinet approved the note as a whole. Minor changes in phraseology may be made within the next two days as it is revised in detail to conform with previous expressions in diplomatic correspondence of the United States.

The principle is fixed and unalterable—that the United States must know definitely and very promptly whether Germany intends to ignore visit and search rights and continue her practice of torpedoing vessels without warning, placing the lives of noncombatants in jeopardy, or whether rules of maritime warfare which have governed for centuries will be followed. The alternative course is not stated, but it is now generally known that the United States in the event of an unfavorable reply will discontinue diplomatic relations with Germany.

The note sets aside as irrelevant all the contentions of the German reply of last Saturday except one—whether the Lusitania was armed—and restates the position taken by the United States previously, that the Lusitania after official investigation by competent inspectors, sailed from an American port with no guns aboard, either mounted or unmounted. It further calls Germany's attention to the fact that the Lusitania did not attempt any resistance, being torpedoed without a moment's warning.

"SALLY LUNN."

Large Audience Attend Play at the High School Hall.

Nearly five hundred people witnessed the production of the two act comedy, "Sally Lunn" presented Friday evening at the high school hall by the ladies of the Methodist Episcopal church. The weeks of dutiful training and coaching insured the complete success with which the production was marked and which made it so thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. All of the parts were so well rendered that the spectators scarcely realized that the actors and actresses were amateurs.

The committee to whom the credit was due for success of the play was Mrs. John R. Wilson, Mrs. W. H. Lighthall and Mrs. Arthur Elliot. This committee not only had charge of the training of those who took part, but also decided upon the stage setting. As an aid in arranging the stage, the Walbridge store, Nichols & Warren and the Estate of A. K. Ritchie kindly put different properties at the disposal of those in charge. Through the generosity of George Donnelly, an excellent orchestra was furnished with no cost to the entertainment, which rendered several selections during the evening. In the hall was placed a candy table in charge of Miss Flora Murphy.

Those who took part in the entertainment were Mrs. H. Harry Sharpe, the Misses Beulah Evans, Hazel Hufnagel, and Dorothy Field, Dean Martin, Lawrence Griswold and Irving Hare.

It is not known as yet the exact amount cleared by the entertainment but it is thought to be somewhere between fifty and sixty dollars.

AMERICAN YOUNG MEN RECRUITED FOR ENGLAND

Youths Ship from Boston to Enlist in British Army

STATE DEPARTMENT INVESTIGATES

Consul-General at London Demands that 15 Year-Old Boston Boy Be Discharged.

Boston, June 5.—Alleged recruiting of American young men for the military forces of Great Britain is the subject of an investigation begun by federal officials here yesterday. According to a cablegram from the United States consul-general at London which was included in a message sent by Secretary Bryan to Congressman Peter F. Tague of Boston, at least 15 youths have been enlisted in violation of an agreement with the British board of trade regarding the United States shipping laws. These and other cases are being inquired into, it is understood.

Secret service agents are co-operating with United States District Attorney George W. Anderson and his staff on orders from Washington to learn what inducements, if any, have been offered American youths to ship on British vessels as caretakers for horses and cattle.

In the case of 15 who left Boston on the Leyland liner Cambrian May 8, the consul-general found that all had signed preliminary enlistment papers before the agent could board the steamer on its arrival in London. His cablegram to Secretary Bryan, sent in connection with inquiries for Patrick Denehy, a youth of 15 years, said: "On the arrival of the steamer Cambrian, a recruiting sergeant was given opportunity to go aboard and enlisted Denehy and 14 others, thus frustrating arrangements previously made for his return."

The consul general added that he was asking the British war department "for Denehy's immediate discharge as contrary to the agreement with the board of trade covering compliance with the United States shipping laws, which provide for the return of horse guards to ports of departure."

Since the outbreak of the war several hundred young men have shipped out of Boston on the steamers used as transports by the remount division of the British army. Few have returned, according to the information gathered by the federal officers.
